WOMAN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION AT MARBLETOWN

Mrs. Hirschman Dead and Husband and Myer Hirschman are in the Benedictine Hospital Badly Injured—Car Skidded on Wet Road—Each Party Asserts The Other's Car Skidded.

As a result of an automobile collision just beyond the Marbletown road on the Kingston-Ellenburgh road about 7:30 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Harry Hirschman of Main street, Catskill, is dead, her husband and Myer Hirschman are at the Benedictine Hospital seriously injured. Oscar Hirschman, brother of Myer, escaped injury. Mrs. Molawitz, also of Catskill, who was in the Hirschman car, was injured.

The accident happened on the road just beyond the Cottickill road which turns off the state road just west of the Marbletown Church. Mr. and Mrs. Hirschman with the two boys and Mrs. Molawitz were coming from the road toward Kingston and were on their way to take the boys to high school. A Buick car driven by Barney Rogivan of Accord, accompanied by Harry Reiner of Rhinecliff, was proceeding up the road toward their homes. Just before the accident happened it was not known as there are two versions. Mr. Hirschman claims that the Buick skidded and struck his car, while the driver of the Buick claims that the Star car of Mr. Hirschman skidded and struck the Buick.

At the time of the accident there was a heavy fog and the roadway was wet from the recent rain. The cars came together with considerable force and Mrs. Hirschman received a fracture of the skull at the base and other injuries. Mr. Hirschman and Myer Hirschman were seriously injured.

The office of Dr. W. J. and J. G. Leary on Pa. street was notified and they in turn notified the Leo V. Rogivan ambulance service which responded immediately and conveyed the injured people to the Benedictine Hospital. Mrs. Hirschman died just as the ambulance reached the hospital.

The injuries of Mr. Hirschman and Myer are considered serious. They have fractured ribs and other bones of a severe nature. The injured were attended at the hospital by Dr. William J. and John G. Leary.

The accident was reported to the sheriff's office by Mr. Rogivan, who drove the Buick car.

DEMPESEY GETS $500,000 CASH

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 13.—Jack Dempsey, who will defend his heavyweight title tomorrow night against Luis Firpo, has received $500,000 from promoter Tex Rickard as his share of financial proceeds, it was learned today. The money was taken by Rickard to Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, who put it in the bank.

This staggering sum for a few minutes of mauling in the ring is considered more than the president of the United States gets for guiding the ship of state for a whole year.

It had been reported that Dempsey would get 37 1/2 per cent of the gate receipts, but the champion has given the option of taking a half million in cash.

It is estimated that the total receipts will be about $1,300,000. If so, another $100,000.

The challenger will get 12 per cent or about $163,000. His expenses are estimated at $40,000. The incidental expenses for the fight are put at $32,000.

Rickard will get about $500,000 promoting the fight.

Collision at West Hurley.
Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock a Ford car driven by Everett Buley of Shokan ran into the side near the rear of a Ford driven by Edward Woodstock, near the post office at West Hurley. The Ward was knocked over on its side to roadway and badly damaged. One was injured.

Expenses of the Endicott Boys' band, which played at the Exposition on Saturday, September 1, was $245.15; expenses for printed additional vaudeville acts, etc., $179.80; a total of $424.95.

GLENS FALLS TO PLAY TWICE HERE

The Colonial management announced a new schedule for the week end games today. On Saturday the Glens Falls team will come here. The game will be called promptly at 4 o'clock.

On Sunday two games will be played, the first game to start at 3 o'clock with Tannersville. This is the deciding game of the series between these two teams, each having won five games. Immediately following the first game the Glens Falls team will play the second game. The first game being called at 3 o'clock will give plenty of time to finish both games. Games will now be played on Sunday after 6 o'clock but must not be started before 2.

JOHN J. RYAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

John J. Ryan of St. Remy, who was struck Sunday evening by an automobile driven by Eugene Harrison of New Paltz near the Eddyville bridge, died this morning at the Kingston City Hospital, where he was rushed following the accident.

At the time of the accident Mr. Ryan was walking along the side of the road on the New Salem side of the bridge when the car approached him. In order to avoid another car Mr. Harrison turned out and was blinded by the headlights of the other car and did not see Mr. Ryan until he had struck him.

Mr. Ryan was in the 65th year of his age and was a lifelong resident of St. Remy, where he was highly respected. He was the son of the late John and Margaret Ryan. He is survived by his wife, Margaret Jarovly Ryan, and the following children: Philip of Cleveland, Joseph and William of Auburn, Peter of Cleveland, Eugene of Chicago, John, Thomas, Margaret and Sarah of St. Remy and Elizabeth of Amsterdam, and a brother Patrick of New York city.

The funeral will be held from the late residence Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock and from the Church of the Sacred Heart, Eddyville, at 10 o'clock, where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

BRUSH FACTORY ON UNION STREET

The Hartmann Brush Manufacturing Company, Inc., which was recently granted a charter by the secretary of state, has leased the former Charles E. Bishop garage on West Union street and will use it for factory purposes. The building, which is of brick construction, one story in height, extends from West Union street through to Hunter street.

Workers are now busy putting the building in shape for the manufacture of brushes, and it is expected that by the first of the month the machinery will be installed and work of manufacture started.

The directors of the new concern are Joseph F. Hartmann of Port Ewen; Katherine G. Donovan, New York city; Rose A. Hartmann, Port Ewen; and Timothy J. Donovan, New York city. The capital stock is to be $50,000.

DAUGHERTY REPORT SHOWS FAILURE OF VOLSTEAD LAW

Strongest Official Indictment of Law's Failure Ever Drawn by Responsible Government Official Will be Used as Text by Those Who Seek to Modify Enforcement Law.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The startling picture of prohibition enforcement, presented to President Coolidge by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, has increased enormously the stock of ammunition which the wets will bring into play against the Volstead act in the approaching session of the new congress.

This was admitted on all sides today—even by the dries themselves. No stronger indictment of present conditions was ever drawn by a responsible government official. It was pointed out here today. And it was predicted on all sides that these paragraphs from the attorney general's report will be quoted many times on the floors of congress in the forthcoming session when the fight for modification of the Volstead act gets under way.

The wets, who will be stronger in the new congress than they have ever been, are planning to attack the Volstead act from two angles.

1. They will contend that it cannot be enforced as now drawn, and consequently should be modified.

2. They will contend that it is possible to modify the law and still stay within the Eighteenth Amendment, which only prohibited "intoxicating" beverages and left it up to congress to determine what percentage of alcohol makes a beverage intoxicating.

With respect to the first contention they will cite the Daugherty picture of present day enforcement, and the almost universal lack of respect for law, extending "into the very sanctuaries where the inviolability of the law was presumed to have been held sacred."

It is probable the fight on the Volstead act will be launched simultaneously in state and house—in the senate by Senator Walter E. Edge, Republican, and in the house by Representative John Philip Hill, Republican, of Maryland. Party lines are certain to go by the board.

The wets claim that there are more than 200 members of the next house. A majority of 218. Their claims, however, are denied by the dries, who assert the wet contingent at its strongest will number no more than 100. In the senate the dries have an undisputed majority.

VOLSTEAD LAW CASES TREBLE

Daugherty's Report Shows That Judges, Lawyers and High Officials Are Among Those Prosecuted For Violation.

Attorney-General Daugherty's report to President Coolidge on "the accomplishments of the Federal judiciary in coping with violations of the national prohibition act" on Wednesday has been made public by the president. It is said that the report will be used in the campaign to transfer the enforcement of the dry laws from the Treasury to the Department of Justice. The program of the Reorganization Commission contemplates this transfer, but prohibition leaders have opposed it.

The report, released for publication with the permission of the President, reveals that "the Department of Justice has been called upon to prosecute a member of the judiciary, prominent members of the American bar, high officials of State and Federal Government, multimillionaires, scions of the nation's aristocracy, and the sordid story of assassination, bribery and corruption that found its way into the very sanctuaries wherein the inviolability of the law was presumed to have been held sacred."

The report reveals that since prohibition went into effect January 16, 1920, more than 90,000 cases have been terminated, of which there were 72,489 convictions; that fines totaling more than $12,367,660 have been assessed in criminal cases alone; that jail sentences for the past twenty-three months of national prohibition total more than 3,000 years. It also shows that each year of national prohibition has brought an increase of cases over the previous year, the last fiscal year averaging more than three times that of the first fiscal year.

FRENCH PRESS REJECTS PROPOSAL OF STRESEMANN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Sept. 13.—French newspapers declared today that Chancellor Stresemann's proposal that the Franco-Belgian troops evacuate the Ruhr could not be accepted by France. They added that the reparations situation had not been changed at all by the German chancellor's speech, replying to Premier Poincaré's speech of last Sunday.

Chancellor Stresemann's speech was delivered to a group of German editors late yesterday. He said Germany is ready to cease passive resistance and mortgage private real estate, industry, finance and agriculture, to meet the allied indemnity demands.

LATITINGTOWN MAN KILLED IN FALL FROM APPLE TREE

Carmelo Barbarone, aged 32, was instantly killed on Monday afternoon when he fell a distance of 15 feet from an apple tree on his farm in Lattingtown, near Marlborough, sustaining a broken neck. He was picking apples and had a bag tied to his neck and resting on his back. The limb on which his weight was resting snapped, throwing him to the ground headfirst. Barbarone is survived by his wife and two children. The family purchased the farm in Lattingtown, moving there from New York.

PLEURISY NOW IN LEFT LUNG

Mayor Hyman's Condition Takes a Decided Turn for the Worse, Although Physicians Hope to Check Spread.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Mayor John F. Hyman of New York city, ill here with pleuro-pneumonia, has had a turn for the worse in the last 24 hours and is a very sick man. While the doctors were hoping that the mayor had passed the crisis and was well on the road to recovery pleurisy developed in the left lung.

The mayor has been suffering for more than a week with pleural pneumonia of the right lung and it is now feared that pleurisy in the left lung may develop at any minute into pneumonia.

The official bulletin issued at 10:45 today by the mayor's physicians declared that "trouble in the left lung is very slight and has not extended during the 48 hours."

It was learned however, that an X-ray will be taken this afternoon to determine exactly the condition of the mayor's lungs.

Dr. C. Constock, who with his father, Dr. George F. Constock, and Dr. Frank J. Monaghan, is attending the mayor, said shortly before noon that he did think the mayor's condition today was anything to be alarmed about.

"It's too bad that father let the information get out last night that the mayor's other lung was affected," he said, "because we are confident few hours. It is only a slight affection and I am sure it will clear up quickly with proper treatment."

GOVERNOR VISITED BY WOMAN'S PARTY LEADERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Syracuse, Sept. 13.—Governor Alfred E. Smith flatly refused here today to tamper with any privileges held by women under the law, although pledging a delegation from the National Woman's Party his full support of other legislation to bring about equality for women politically, legally and morally.

The governor declared himself in full accord with laws which would make the man wear equally with the woman the scarlet letter of offense against the laws and other equivalent measures demanded by the recent convention of the woman's party at Seneca Falls.

FAIR WEATHER IS PREDICTED FOR FIGHT

SIXTY DAYS TO SOBER CANNON

Stony Hollow Man Seems to Like Brand of Booze He Obtains in Kingston—Is Now Awaiting Hearing Before Grand Jury on Grave Charge.

William P. Cannon, 30 years old of Stony Hollow, is again in the toils of the law, and this morning in police court Judge Robert G. Groves informed Cannon that he was a public nuisance and for that reason sentenced him to sixty days in the county jail to sober up after Cannon had pleaded guilty to public intoxication.

Wednesday evening police headquarters received a riot call from Abel street, and Officers Burger, Entrott and Urban Healey were rushed to the scene. They had been told that several men had engaged in a fight and neighbors in that vicinity thought murder was being committed.

When the police arrived the participants broke and ran, but Cannon was caught after a chase through some of the backyards, and placed under arrest on a charge of public intoxication.

Evidently Cannon likes the brand of booze being sold in Kingston, for this is the second time he has been arrested in a short time. The last time arrested here he was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of driving his automobile while intoxicated. At that time he furnished bail, and shortly afterward was arrested on a similar charge outside of Kingston, but that case was disposed of.

This morning in police court Cannon did not appear to be perfectly sober.

JAP MINISTER THANKS AMERICA

Food Enough Now In Devastated Region and No Serious Outbreak of Disease—Cremations and Tremors Continue.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Tokio, Sept. 13.—Vice Minister Tanaka Ganshuo called on American Ambassador Cyrus E. Woods today to officially thank the United States for the leading part that nation has taken in rushing help to the stricken area of Japan.

The cremation of bodies continues throughout Tokyo and Yokohama. Bodies are being cleared away as rapidly as possible and the actual work of rehabilitation is expected to start within a week or ten days.

An official investigation is being made of Yokohama harbor to determine whether the upheaval of the port bottom will seriously interfere with the future activity and usefulness of the one great Japanese seaport.

Tokio presents a gruesome scene. The silence of the devastated sections is oppressive. In spite of the efficient work of the sanitary corps many bodies still remain in plain view among the ruins.

Slight earth tremors continue to instill fear in the hearts of thousands of refugees. However, no material damage has resulted from these quakes.

The youngest daughter of American Trade Commissioner E. G. Babbitt was trapped in the lobby of the Grand Hotel here at the time of the earthquake and perished in the flames that subsequently mantled the building.

Mrs. Babbitt, who was undergoing massage treatment when the terrible shock struck, had a miraculous escape when she was led by another daughter through flying wreckage and falling debris to a place of safety in the open street.

American Commercial Attaché Abbott's family escaped harm. First reports had it that it was Abbott's daughter who was burned to death in the ruins of the Grand Hotel, but it now is established beyond a doubt that the unfortunate girl was the youngest daughter of Trade Commissioner Babbitt.

Food is plentiful throughout the earthquake and fire region.

So far no serious outbreak of pestilence has taken place.

PETITION FOR COUNTY ROAD FROM EAST KINGSTON

At a meeting of the town board of the town of Ulster held on August 15 at the request of Supervisor Frank M. Brink and Town Superintendent John Halwick, a petition was adopted asking the board of supervisors to construct as a county road the highway running from the city line near the Shultz brickyard and running northerly through the village of East Kingston and coming out on the Flat-bush state road at the base of the East Kingston hill.

This action by the town board is in keeping with their purpose of making provisions for the construction of a "first-class bituminous macadam road in each of the several sections of the town."

TREASURY CERTIFICATE OFFERING OVER SUBSCRIBED.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 13.—The government's latest offering of $200,000,000 of 4 1/2 per cent treasury certificates of indebtedness has been largely over subscribed, it was announced today. This offering of certificates, together with treasury balances, already available, will help the government to meet the obligations falling due this month and provide for further cash requirements of the treasury.

BULGARS CROSS JUGO-SLAV BORDER

And Tension Increases in Balkans—Italians Agree to September 20 as Date for Greece to Hand Self.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Athens, Sept. 13.—The Balkan war cloud loomed lower today as a result of depredations by Bulgarian irregulars upon Jugo Slav territory. The Bulgarians crossed the frontier Tuesday night and raided villages.

The irregulars or Comitadjis, as they are known in the Balkans, are chiefly of the bandit type. They live in the mountains and have been responsible for much international trouble owing to their raids. At present the Macedonian irregulars are demanding autonomy. Bulgarian officials have announced they may be unable to restrain the irregulars owing to their armed strength.

Activity of the irregulars has increased the tension among Jugo Slavs, Bulgarians and Greeks. The frontier guards are being strengthened.

One band of Bulgarians assaulted the police sub-station of Serrinaka. The inhabitants armed themselves and gave chase, killing five of the raiders.

It was reported that the Serbians had closed their frontier on the Bulgarian side, but this is doubted.

A report from Belgrade said the government was barring the departure of reservists between the ages of 18 and 35, fearing that their services might be needed in the field.

The Italian legation today informed the Greek government that September 20 would be acceptable as the date for Greece to do honors to the memory of the Italians killed on Greek soil. September 20 is an Italian holiday.

The Greek government had previously notified the allies they were ready to conduct the honorary ceremonies tomorrow.

It is denied that Italy has levied any specific financial demand to cover the cost of occupation of Corfu.

SAUGERTIES HOUSE IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

The interior of the two story frame house on Post street, Saugerties, owned by Mrs. Mary Götterup, was badly gutted by fire and the contents considerably damaged by water Wednesday morning. The fire was discovered in a bedroom upstairs and it is surmised, was due to children playing with matches. Clouds of smoke issued from the building. The firemen made a quick response and after a hard battle conquered the blaze. The house was occupied by Peter Martino and family and Clarence Robinson had just moved in some of his furniture. The damage done the house is covered by insurance. Mr. Martino also carried insurance on his household effects.

SHRINERS ARE HOLDING THEIR ANNUAL OUTING

Members of the Kingston Shriners' Association are holding their annual clam bake and outing this afternoon at the Schoenag Hotel, on the Kingston-Saugerties highway, near Glasco. A number met at the Mitchell House at noon and motored from there through Wall street and then to the Schoenag hotel, while other went direct from their homes to the lake which was scheduled to be served about 1 o'clock. A telegram it was said had been received from some of the invited out of town Shriners that they would be unable to come.

Edward Jackson, a stranger, was found asleep on upper Broadway on Wednesday evening by Officer Shoemaker. This morning Edward was fined $5 by Judge Groves, and unable to pay was committed to the county jail for five days.

Another Speeder Caught.

This morning Motorcycle Officer Kuehn arrested Samuel Altman of Brooklyn on a charge of speeding. He gave bail for his appearance later in police court.

Commissioner of Education Calls For Use Of Revised Pledge To U. S. Flag In Schools

Albany, Sept. 13.—In a letter sent to each city, village and district superintendent of schools Dr. Frank P. Graves, commissioner of education, recommends that the pledge of allegiance to the flag as revised by the National Flag Conference in Washington last June be used in all the schools of the state. The revised pledge reads: "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all." The pledge formerly read: "I pledge allegiance to my Flag."

The commissioner also recommends the displaying of the flag in accordance with the rules adopted by the conference, pointing out particularly that when displayed against the wall of a room, the flag should not be draped but should be hung flat to the wall. Efforts to have all children know the Star Spangled Banner are also urged.

Superintendents are asked to report by October 15th whether school authorities are complying with the provisions of the education law which requires them to purchase and display a flag on or near each school building during school hours.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

BUTTER AND EGGS

It's no more than our due," said the golden yellow Butter.

"No more than our due," agreed the Eggs. And then they recited this piece together while the other vegetables and things to eat in the icebox listened.

It's no more than our due. Oh, this is true. So we tell it to you. It's no more than our due!

They've named flowers after us. Yet we don't make a fuss.

No we don't make a fuss. Yet they've named flowers after us!

"Well," said the milk in the milk bottle, "there is milkweed. That's named after me."

"And I'm enough in myself," said an onion.

"Yes," said the butter, "and you are so much in yourself that you make people cry."

"Not because they are sad," said the onion. "I merely make their eyes water."

"Well," said one of the string beans in the icebox to the butter and eggs, "you shouldn't boast anyway as much as you do."

"And besides that, you are not named after flowers but after weeds."

"Not such popular weeds either."

"Why, I remember when I was growing upon a vine that they talked about me over the way the Butter and Egg weeds would crowd themselves into the fields."

"They did not like them at all."

"Oh, well," said the Butter in the icebox, "there are always some who won't like you. One cannot be expected to be liked by everyone."

"True," agreed the Eggs.

"And even if Butter and Eggs are weeds," the Butter in the icebox continued, "they are flowers, too. Yes, they're beautiful yellow flowers."

"They have long and interesting-looking pointed ends at the base of each flower something like a spur."

"And they are of darker yellow inside than they are outside."

"They're just as gay and pretty as they can be and they're not fussy about where they go. They're not snobbish. They're pleasant and friendly."

"Well said, Butter," the Eggs remarked.

"I agree that they aren't fussy about where they go," the String Bean remarked. "They don't even care whether they're wanted or no."

"They're no pride, no pride at all."

"Pride," said the Butter, "is not to be desired so much as a pleasant and friendly nature."

"I would much rather be around a pleasant person than a proud one, even if I am butter and even if it is easy to melt me and make me do almost anything."

"A point well taken, Butter," said the Eggs.

"And, too," the Butter continued, "I am proud to have such gay, bright, pleasant yellow flowers named after me. I don't care if they're weeds."

They brighten up the whole country all throughout the summer. Yes, I'm proud and pleased they're named after me and my friends the Eggs."

"We're proud and pleased, too," said the Eggs.

"Then," said the Butter, "I don't think it really matters so much what you think, String Bean. I don't mean to be rude when I say that."

"I merely mean that as long as we're pleased that is all that is necessary."

"You haven't been chosen as the food or the vegetable or whatever you wish to be called after which some flower or weed has been named."

"At least if any has been named after you I don't know of it."

"Well, neither do I," admitted the String Bean. "and what you say is really so."

"Yes," the Butter continued, "we're pleased. We think it is nice that when they were naming such bright yellow flowers they thought of us—the Butter and Eggs."

"We're enormously pleased because of that."

"We're enormously pleased," the Eggs said.

"They're Not Snobbish"

GOOD EVERYDAY FOODS

A tasty dish which may be prepared in a hurry for breakfast, luncheon or supper is apple sauce toast.

Steam heat in the oven until hot or toast on the toaster until brown the desired number of pieces of bread.

Butter while hot and pour hot, well-seasoned apple sauce over each piece. Serve at once.

Luncheon Pepper Pot—Place in a kettle one quart of clear, strong soup. Add a pint of boiling water to allow for the boiling away and add four tablespoonfuls each of shredded carrot, celery and green pepper. Cook until the vegetables are tender, season well. Have ready four rounds of toast, on each a slice of cheese that has been melted on the toast in a hot oven. Lay one on each dish or soup bowl with the portion of stew and place a poached egg on each. Season and serve at once.

Mushroom Stew—This delicious vegetable may be gathered in many fields during the fall, rather than buying them in the market when the price is high. Take about one-half pound of mushrooms, peel and dice and measure two cupfuls. In four cupfuls of rich milk add the mushrooms and heat to the boiling point. Cream together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, add salt to season and stir this into the milk. Cook for 15 minutes. Serve at once with a slice of toast.

A simple little dish which may be served at tea or with a cup of tea is crackers topped with cottage cheese and garnished with a cube of apple jelly. If the crackers which are cup-shaped are used the cracker holds quite enough cheese for several bites.

Picnic Rolls—Cut the top off of a round roll, scoop out all the crumb, leaving a shell with a small opening in the top. Reserve the piece cut from the top for a cover. Mix and divide filling such as chicken and celery with salad dressing, chopped olives, nuts, sweet pepper and a little chopped tongue. Fill this into the roll put on the cover and if crumb wrap each in piece of parchment paper.

TWO HURT WHEN CAR IS STEERED INTO CROWD

At 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon there was great excitement for a few minutes in front of the Stuyvesant Hotel when a new Star sedan driven by Mrs. John M. Hotelling of 110 Franklin street was steered into a small crowd of people waiting at the corner of John and Fair streets to board a trolley.

Mrs. Hotelling who has been driving but for a short time came down John street from Wall street toward Fair. This is a one way street and the new driver evidently was unaware of that fact. On seeing the trolley so near her when she reached the street intersection she became confused and steered the car in the wrong direction directly into the waiting people. One man was knocked for several feet. His name was not ascertained. It is thought he was not hurt severely. Mrs. William Stork was the other person injured. She was knocked to the sidewalk and was carried to the store of Harry LeFever where she was later attended by a doctor. Soon after her husband arrived and she was taken home in his auto. The Star car bore the license plate No. 1224 261 and was finally stopped when it struck the fire hydrant at the corner. Neither Mrs. Hotelling nor the car were injured.

It used to be that arms grew weary and backs ached cruelly over the washboard—

But now—straight from the soaking water into the rinse water

YESTERDAY ~ rubbing till you ached TODAY ~ soaking takes the place of rubbing

All that old back-breaking work is gone forever ~ you do not have to wear yourself out over your washboard any longer

Sheets, towels and aprons. Rompers, shirts and play clothes.

How hard it used to be to manage them with bar soap. What a downright mean job it was to rub the soap on all the soiled places and then rub the heavy wet clothes on the washboard.

And yet you would not spare yourself this back-breaking work, for the love of clean linen lies very close to every American woman's heart.

Today how easy it is to get all these pieces clean and white.

This new kind of soap soaks dirt out

Just let soaking take the place of rubbing. The cleansing Rinso suds work gently through every fold and fibre. They loosen the dirt without weakening a single thread.

Even neck bands and cuff edges, hems and knees of play clothes—those especially grimy places—have their dirt easily and safely loosened. Only a light rubbing with a little dry Rinso is necessary.

You do not have to change your wash-day habits when you use Rinso. Just use it in place of bar soap whether for soaking, boiling or in washing machines.

Just dissolve—use enough—soak

Rinso dissolves instantly and completely in boiling water. Make a good, thick solution of it in a saucepan. Pour this solution into your tub and add lukewarm water until tub is half full. Then put in your clothes. Be sure that the suds stand up even after the clothes are in. If they do not, add more of the Rinso solution until they do.

Let the clothes soak an hour—over night if you wish. (Colored clothes, of course, not longer than half an hour.) Then rinse out. You will find that your clothes are whiter—more fragrant than ever.

Follow the advice of the big washing machine manufacturers—use Rinso in your machine. Sixteen leaders in their field recommend Rinso for best results.

The largest soap makers in the world, the makers of Lux, make Rinso. It is just as safe and easy for the family wash as Lux is for fine things.

Get Rinso today at any grocery or department store. There are two sizes, the regular size and the big new package, Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

This new kind of soap takes the place of bar soap and makes hard rubbing unnecessary

BOY RAN AWAY FROM HIS HOME

Harry Greenberg said step-mother mistreated him and he departed and began life anew as newsboy in New York—Robbed of His $45—Sent Home.

Harry Greenberg of Pine Brook, N. J., who informed the local police department that he was 16 years old, and who appears several years younger, was arraigned before Judge Robert G. Groves this morning on a charge of train riding. He was arrested Wednesday evening by Westmore Detective William Tierney; he found the lad with Charles Ferraro, 21 years old of Brooklyn, and Louis Schuman, 19 years old of New York, in a freight car in the north yard, and placed all three under arrest on a train riding charge. Chief of Police J. Allan Wood testified the young lad this morning and the boy said that his mother and father were dead and he had been living with his stepmother on a farm at Pine Brook, N. J., but that she mistreated him and he had run away from home. He went to New York city to start life anew as a newsboy at the Brooklyn Bridge, and three weeks had cleared $45. The other night he was occupying a usual bedroom—a bench in Battery Park—and when he awoke and he had two new "chums" and at his $45 was missing. With the two men he went to Jersey City and "hooked" a freight arriving here Wednesday night. Judge Groves held the two men for five days for further investigation, and discharged the lad. He told the boy that he would see to it that arrangements were made to send him back home today.

NEW AIR SPEED RECORD MADE

By Telegram to The Freeman. Mitchell Field, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Lieutenant H. J. Brow, U. S. N., piloting a Curtiss navy bi-plane, in preparation for the airplane races at St. Louis, today established a new world's speed record of 245 miles an hour. The previous speed record was held by Lt. L. P. Sanderson of the U. S. Marine Corps, with 233 miles an hour. The test was made over a kilometer course and was electrically clocked to the tenth of a second. Lt. Brow flew at the rate of 300 feet a second.

WOODSTOCK MUSIC LOVERS ENJOY ALLEN RECITAL.

Woodstock, Sept. 13.—In presenting a collection of folk songs and ballads at League Studio Hall last Tuesday evening, C. Baldwin Allen demonstrated the marvelous qualities of a voice destined to establish for him a very enviable place in the music world. Mr. Allen's recital consisted of four groups of songs, Old Gaelic, Old Scotch, Modern Scotch, Old Irish songs, and as encores he rendered a number of Salt Water ballads.

In such selections as "Turn Ye to Me" and "Molly Brenneigan" the fine lyric qualities of his voice were shown, while in his heavier numbers, "The Pipes o' Gordon's Men" and "Scots wha hae ye w' Wallace Bled," he showed a strength and power of expression, coupled with magnificent technique.

While listening to the recital one was reminded of the voice of Morgan Kingston who, while he was a tenor and for that reason cannot well be compared with a baritone, had many of the same qualities which Mr. Allen possesses. Not since the days in Woodstock when Lorenzi, of the Metropolitan, used to charm his audients, has there been such enthusiasm shown as that which greeted Mr. Allen in this fine program.

J. Clarendon McClure rendered three piano selections also which showed very great mastery of the instrument. "Troutling of the Sacred Well," "Sea Rapture" and "In Heybred Seas" were beautifully rendered. Mr. McClure is a professional pianist of much renown and possesses a profound knowledge of music. His piano numbers were gems, which served to lend great charm to Mr. Allen's recital. The music lovers of Woodstock are loud in their praise of both of these great musicians.

TWEEDLEDEEM & TWEEDLEDEE.

In his letter to The Freeman published on Tuesday, Bishop Hughes of Massachusetts seems to emphasize the fact that he is trying to secure repeal of the Methodist Church law relating to amusements on the ground that the law is "unworkable." The church law which he wants to repeal relates to attendance at circuses, theaters, horse races, dancing parties, or patronizing dancing schools, "or taking such other amusements as are obviously of misleading or questionable moral tendency, or disobedience to the order and discipline of the church."

The reason why Bishop Hughes wants his church law repealed is that it has always been unworkable, that nobody obeys it, that everybody violates it. The law was adopted by the Methodist Church in 1872—fifty-one years ago. In his own fifty years of "remembered experience" in several relations to that church, he "has never known or heard of a single case where the detailed law on amusements has been applied and anybody has been expelled."

"We shall, of course, be misunderstood for a time," says Bishop Hughes in The Methodist Review, "and some of our people will deem that the bars are down. But a flood of misunderstanding for which we are not responsible is far better than a flood of lawlessness for which we are responsible."

Yet Bishop Hughes writes to The Freeman that to compare the repeal of the law of the church which has honored him by electing him bishop with the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law shows "a lack of moral proportion," and says it was wrong to repeal the Mullan-Gage law.

All law, whether it is a law of the state or a law of the church, involves the question of morality, which is action based on man's natural sense of what is right and proper. In 1872, the General Conference of the Methodist Church decided that certain habits which had existed from the dawn of civilization "are obviously of misleading or questionable moral tendency," and legislated against them. It was proposed to class them as "Sinful Amusements," but Bishop Hughes says that "Even the General Conference of 1872 did not care to invent sins." It is that respect it was not as progressive as some later day organizations. Anyway, nobody obeyed the law and everybody disobeyed it. What would be the natural result of such a condition in a church whose principal purpose was to improve morals by creating, among other things, respect for law? "When we are compelled to explain to them that we have the law in fact, but not in effect, our beginning with them is pitiable," says Bishop Hughes.

Both the Volstead law and the Mullan-Gage law went far beyond the intent of the Eighteenth Amendment as clearly expressed in simple English. Nobody paid any attention to them; people violated them as freely as Methodists for fifty years had been violating the Methodist Church law relating to amusements which "are obviously of misleading or questionable moral tendency," such as circuses, theaters, dancing. The only difference was that more people violated the Volstead and Mullan-Gage laws because they applied to more people and were more unreasonably.

In repealing the Mullan-Gage law, the state of New York could very properly use Bishop Hughes's own words: "We shall, of course, be misunderstood for a time; and some of our people will deem that the bars are down. But a flood of misunderstanding for which we are not responsible is far better than a flood of lawlessness for which we are responsible."

When two laws are "unworkable," shall a bishop be honored for trying to repeal one and a layman be condemned because he votes to repeal the other?

In admitting that for fifty years he "has never known or heard of a single case where the detailed law" of the Methodist Church has been applied, does Bishop Hughes realize the responsibility of enforcing his own church laws which has rested on his own shoulders as a bishop? It was not enforced because it was "unworkable?" Then how can he condemn other people who repeal other laws that are "unworkable?" Wouldn't it have been better if the church had repealed its law fifty years ago? And until the obnoxious church law is repealed, isn't it the bishop's duty to remember that it is a law, and to enforce it? Must there be one law for bishops and another for legislators?

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Do toads give warts to anyone who handles them?
No, warts are a skin disease where a tiny tumor in the skin is overlaid with a thickening of the epidermis. (Anointing this with castor oil will often heal the trouble.) Toads do secrete from glands in their own skin a slimy substance, which makes them unpleasant to handle. Possibly a raw scratch or cut on the hands might be irritated if some of this slime got in. The slime is a protective device to make toads unpleasant eating for foes.

2. Is a unicorn a real animal?
If you mean the unicorn used on the British coat-of-arms, that is a fabled one. Pictures show its horn pointing forward, almost at right angles to its forehead. Some natural histories suggest this "animal" was copied from pictures on ancient Egyptian monuments of the Oryx antelope of Africa, whose long, usually straight horns, drawn in profile, look like one horn. These horns point backward toward the haunches, however.

3. Will Nux Vomica fed to chickens make an efficient poison bait to kill hawks?

We have no experience with this, but know that chicken heads into which strychnine has been inserted, are recommended as bait for chicken-killing weasels. Since Nux Vomica has the medicinal properties of strychnine, it probably would serve as a substitute poison. Incidentally, we wish every hawk-hunting farmer would send 5 cents to the Division of Documents, Washington, D. C., for A. K. Fisher's Hawks and Owls From the Standpoint of the Farmer. Very interesting.

LIEN COMPANY ONLY MOFFAT TUNNEL BIDDER

The bid of the Lien Construction Company of New York was the only one considered when bids for the Moffat tunnel were opened by the tunnel commission at Denver, Col., Wednesday. The bid covered all items in construction of the tunnel, and totaled $5,975,000. The commission went into session to discuss the bid of the Lien Company and will not reach a decision for several days.

The Lien Company is constructing the tunnel under the mountain from Gilboa to Shandaken to carry the water of the Scholastic creek back into the Esopus creek from where it will flow into the Ashokan reservoir for use by New York City.

The Moffat tunnel is designed to shorten the rail distance from San Francisco to Chicago and is six miles long through James peak, west of Denver.

DODGE AGENCY TO MOVE ACROSS BROADWAY

FALL BEST TIME TO PUT ON LIME

Costs Less to Haul and Apply When Roads Are Good and Other Work Slacks Up.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Less than 150,000 tons of lime and limestone have been used some years in New York, although the soil needs the equivalent of 3,000,000 tons every year for satisfactory growth of clover and a fair acreage of alfalfa, according to the state agricultural college here.

Liming for clover in spring grain becomes a fairly well established practice in some sections, but the college says that is only one of the good places in farm practice to apply lime. The roads and fields are usually in better condition for hauling in the fall than in the spring. In an ordinary season the rush of work is less in the fall. The specialists point out that for these reasons fall application gives better labor distribution, an important factor in good farm management.

They suggest the fall use of lime on land after plowing for wheat or rye to be seeded to clover next spring, or after fall plowing for spring grain. In the latter case they suggest using the harrow to mix the lime and soil, but this is not absolutely essential except with burned and hydrated lime.

Fall use of lime is advantageous in pasture improvement from every standpoint, the college says. Lime this fall on a good stand of red clover which could not be limed last spring will give it a fair chance of success next year, although liming before seeding clover is always better.

HIGH WOODS.

High Woods, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Lucy Burrell has gone to Pittsfield, Mass. to spend a few weeks with her daughter.

Willie Schomers of Brooklyn, who has been spending his school vacation at his grandmother's, Mrs. Catherine Shortt, went home Sunday.

Robert Denhardt and a friend from Kingston went to Saranac Lake Saturday, where Mrs. Denhardt is spending some time with her brother, Adolph Shortt, at his cottage there.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDaniel and daughter Hilda, who have been visiting relatives in this vicinity the past week, returned to Bridgeport Sunday. Jack Wadsworth, who was home a few days with his parents, after his stepbrother's accident, went with them.

Miss Ethel Powers of New York, who was with her mother and sister a few days, went home Sunday.

Ruth and Harold Van Bramer of Torrington, Conn., who have been visiting their relatives here, have returned home.

Mrs. J. Kirschner of Kingston, called to see her cousin, Mrs. Amanda J. Felton last week.

The Rev. John B. Steketee preached a missionary sermon Sunday from the words "Give Ye Them To Eat." He also led the Sunday school and taught the Bible class. Good work is done here by Mr. and Mrs. Whitley each summer. People here miss their joyful faces but hope to meet them again next year, and many others also whose duties have called them away.

Mrs. C. L. Clist was a dinner guest of Mary J. Carle last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Higley of New York, who have been with her mother, Mrs. C. Vredenburg, for the past month, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Felten and daughter Frances of West Camp and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lamb and two sons, were to see George's mother Sunday afternoon.

Richard Westphal, who was seriously injured Labor Day evening, is showing improvement this week.

Aubrey Whitley and family have closed their home here and returned to Brooklyn. His father and mother went with him on their way to their home in Wilmington, Del.

The total receipts of Labor Day fair were $1,100.07; the expenses $399.97, leaving a balance of $700.10 for the church treasury. Again the committee thanks all who contributed gifts, time, service and money.

Mrs. Kulenwind, three daughters and their friends, who have been spending their school vacation with her, returned to New York Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Russell were guests at C. J. Braby's Sunday afternoon.

To Launch Barge.

Dwyer Bros. will launch today at their shipyard up the dock at about 4 o'clock, the sixth grain boat built for the New York Central railroad this season. She will be christened "Ontario." She is of the cargo type and will carry 30,000 bushels. The launching will be several days ahead of contract time, and the Ontario will leave for New York Saturday in the morning tow.

JUGO-SLAVIA AND ITALY AGREEING

Direct Negotiations at Geneva Are Averting War Over Flume, Says Slav Foreign Minister.
(Copyright, 1923, by International News Service.)
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Geneva, Sept. 13.—Negotiations between Jugo Slavia and Italy to avert war over the Flume dispute are progressing favorably in Geneva, it was revealed by M. Ninichitch, Jugo Slav foreign minister in exclusive interview with International News Service.
The Jugo Slav official denied that the League of Nations would be requested to intervene to save the peace of the Balkans.
"We are negotiating here in Geneva directly with the Italians," said M. Ninichitch. "The outlook for success is most promising."
M. Ninichitch held a long conference with Count Bethlen, the Hungarian premier, smoothing out many of the differences between Jugo Slavia and Hungary.
The Jugo Slav foreign minister is active in behalf of the little entente. In fact, a little entente bloc is vigorously campaigning to elect Dr. Benes, of Czechoslovakia, a member of the League Council.
A delegation from the Union of Associations for the League of Nations presented Chairman Ishit with a set of resolutions recommending that the league immediately admit Germany to membership and intervene in the reparations dispute.
The recommendations urge the following:
1. The league shall fix Germany's capacity for payment.
2. Apply the principle of priority for devastated regions.
3. Assure adequate international control of Germany's internal finances.
4. Sponsor an international loan.

HYLAN'S ILLNESS
TAKES BAD TURN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Mayor John F. Hyland, of New York, spent a fairly good night although not a good as his nurses had hoped for, it was said this morning at the Saratoga home of John F. Sinnott, where the mayor has been sick for several weeks. Nevertheless the mayor is comfortable this morning, it was added.
The mayor's condition, however, is giving concern to the attending physicians. The possibility that he may have developed double pneumonia was responsible for anxiety.
An X-Ray examination of his lungs was to be made later in the day.
The mayor's condition took a turn for the worse last night after he had a good day. Early yesterday he was greatly improved and showed an interest for the first time, in world affairs. But toward the evening he became worse, rather suddenly, and at 9:30 p. m. the doctors issued a pessimistic report.
Dr. Frank J. Monaghan, one of the attending physicians, said this morning:
"We must not be too optimistic despite the improvement the mayor showed the last few days—up to last night."
"Not until his temperature gets back to normal and remains there for forty-eight hours can we be certain he is on the road to recovery. There is something wrong as long as his temperature remains up."
Dr. Monaghan said the low grade infection which exists in the mayor's left lung "is causing serious concern." It might mean, he added, that double pneumonia is developing.

This "Bluebeard" is a modern millionaire, whose wife decides to hold him—and does, by the most amazing stratagems imaginable. The play has just closed a record-breaking year on the road. In New York it did capacity for six months. Don't miss this big special attraction.

ROSS DIVORCE CASE
MOTION DISMISSED

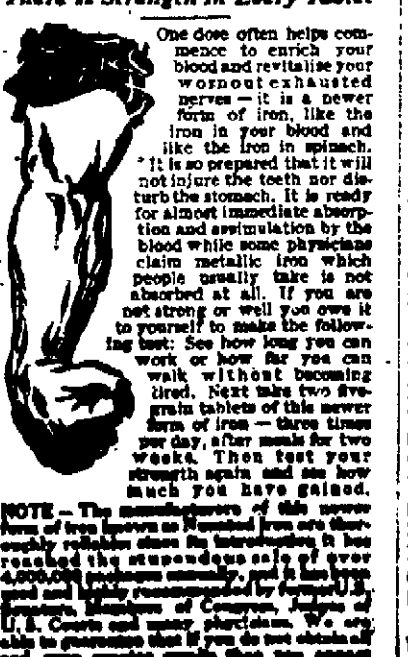

When the divorce action of George W. Ross against Dulcie Ross was tried in Supreme Court, in May, 1923, in which the jury found for the defendant in answering in the negative, several questions given them to answer when rendering their verdict, a motion was made by William D. Brinnier, Jr., counsel for plaintiff, to set aside the answer by the jury in the negative to Question No. 1, being "Did the defendant during the months of September, October, November and December 1917, commit adultery with one, George Dunn, in the town of Esopus, Ulster county, N. Y.?" A decision by Supreme Court Justice Joseph Rosch, before whom Counsel Brinnier was heard on the motion, has issued an order, dated September 4, filed with the Ulster county clerk, in which he dismisses the complaint with costs, made by plaintiff, and also ordered that motion to set aside the verdict and for a new trial be and the same is dismissed, and it is further ordered that defendant have judgment dismissing complaint with costs, and stay of execution for 30 days, and if an appeal is taken within thirty days, 30 days additional time to make a case and exceptions be given plaintiff. The motion of plaintiff to set verdict aside was on the ground that it was contrary to the evidence given in relation to Question No. 1. Chris J. Flanagan is attorney for defendant; James Jenkins and Judge William D. Cunningham were counsel during the trial.

DOINGS AT ALBANY
AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Interesting services are planned for both morning and evening at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church this coming Sunday. The topic of the morning sermon will be "In the Sanctuary: Why Come to Church?" Some changes will be made in the order of service, the purpose being to make it more worshipful and to give the congregation a larger share in the service. At the evening service the pastor will preach on "Coming Down from the Miff Tree." The postponed picnic of the Bible school will be held on Saturday of this week at Forsyth Park, provided it does not rain. It will begin at 10:30 o'clock, and immediately after lunch there will be games and contests with prizes.
The Boy Scout Troop will meet at the church on Monday evening at 7:30, at which time assignments of rank and office will be made for the year.
Celebration at East Kingston.
Saturday evening at East Kingston the Italian people of the town will hold a dance and have fireworks. Greco's band will supply the music. On Sunday they will attend Mass at St. Columba's Church, East Kingston, at 10 o'clock; this to be followed by a parade.

Remarkable Discovery
—Newer Form of Iron

There is Strength in Every Tablet

One does often help commence to enrich your blood and revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves—it is a newer form of iron, like the Iron in your blood and like the Iron in spinach. It is so prepared that it will not irritate the stomach, it is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood while some physicians claim metallic iron which people usually take is not absorbed at all. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two Iron Tablets of this newer form of iron—three times per day, in or after meals for one week. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

NOTE: The Iron in Spinach is not so easily absorbed as the Iron in these Tablets. It is because the Iron in these Tablets is in a form that is easily absorbed and assimilated by the blood while the Iron in spinach is in a form that is not easily absorbed and assimilated by the blood.

CHASE EXPLAINS LAW OF CONVENTION AND PRIMARY

But Fails to State His Party Held Unofficial Conventions.

Editor, Kingston Freeman:

There are frequent references in your columns to the placing of names on the primary ticket, but I have not noticed a clear statement of the case.
The "unofficial convention" has no standing in law. It places no one on the primary ticket, and it would not if every voter of the party was present and candidates were named by unanimous vote. The only thing which places a person on the ticket or is in any way recognized by the law, is a petition, signed by at least three per cent of the enrolled voters of the party, on which they have written their name, residence, town and number of election district, if outside the city, and in the city, in place of the town, the ward in the city, and these petitions must be acknowledged personally by the signers, or by proxy before a notary public.

Those who are named by the convention must have these petitions just the same as one who seeks the nomination whose name was not before the convention. And as the "unofficial convention" is not in any way recognized by law, the one who quietly secures enough signatures to his petition to place him on the primary ballot has just the same right there and is just as loyal to his party as the one named at the convention.

In fact that is just why this law was enacted so that a few designing men should not decide who should be nominated, but the entire party.

In many states there have been state-wide contests with from two to five candidates, and no one ever thought of challenging the loyalty of any of them to his party, and the voters of the entire party decided on primary day who should be the candidates.

Some of us are a little slow to realize the old-time convention is gone, that our so called unofficial convention is not recognized by our present laws, and had no binding force upon anyone.

The only thing recognized is the petitions, properly signed and acknowledged, and if a dozen persons sought a place on the primary ticket, all would have a right there if three per cent of our party asked it, and no one would have a right to challenge their party loyalty.

FAIRBANKS'S BIG FILM TONIGHT

There is coming to the Opera House tonight a mighty achievement in film made by an actor whose vision was far-reaching, and whose courage was uncommon. To undertake the tremendous task involved in the steps of a costume production, disregarding admonitions of commercial failure, and then to come out in personal triumph, is laudable.

Costume pictures have forever had their last death knell. At the coming of each new costume picture critics and motion picture people check their heads in amazement, and make plans to abandon for all time costume pictures. Yet, in face of all this adversity and opinion, Douglas Fairbanks in his "Robin Hood" popular Robin Hood—and decides that he is going to make every step of his picture see the light.
There is in bringing the drama and life of the bygone centuries to the people of the present one. Mankind owes a great deal to the power of motion picture for taking us back through the vista of years bygone and showing how things were. When you were a tadpole and I was a fish," Fairbanks realized this, and so well that his confidence and anxiety to go ahead with it was not to be curbed.

Douglas Fairbanks in his "Robin Hood," takes folk back eight hundred years and reveals to them how things looked and how people acted, when chivalry was at its zenith. The joys and sorrows of the stirring twelfth century in England have been lived all over again in this modern day before the camera, and the portrayal is deemed absolutely accurate, this whole production based on every fact available in all the records extant.

There is much psychology, sociology and sane judgment in the picture —something most ordinary costume pictures have been found to be wanting. Fairbanks has hit his story from many angles, with all the ways and wherefore, explained, to preclude incredulity.

HOW'S YOUR APPETITE?

I have talked so much about the dangers of overeating that I just want to go to the other extreme,
and talk about undereating.

Perhaps you have thought that such a thing doesn't exist on this continent.

And yet many people are not getting sufficient food for their everyday wants.

Why?

Because they have no appetite for their food. Food seems to actually nauseate them.

And yet if you have watched a person who has been sick, you will remember that he began to get better from the very moment he regained his appetite. And his appetite returned when something special was prepared for him, perhaps something he liked.

Now what's my point?

That the aim of those who have to look after sick people should be along this very line. It is sadly neglected. The patient has been on a milk diet for weeks, and as milk is a good food, therefore the milk is continued until the patient hates the very sight of it. Now there are any number of nourishing foods that are easily digested, and if prepared in a tasty way tempt the appetite.

I often feel that the dietitians in the hospitals do not give this the attention it merits.

You see their duty is to prepare diets that contain all the essential food stuff including vitamins, and to prepare them in the most economical manner. It is a big problem in itself.

I believe that many patients would be out of hospitals days, yes weeks sooner, if the dietitian had the time to study each individual case. Sometimes where a case is out of danger but there seems no progress toward recovery, the actual stopping of all food for a couple of days creates such an appetite that when a tastefully prepared plate with beef or chicken, and a little light vegetable or two is put before them, they eat it heartily, and start on the road to recovery in the rational way.

The rational way is by eating of course.

their 27th session from September 4 business for which it was called.

They opened Tuesday evening with a delightful banquet in the ball room and tables were beautiful. The orchestra gave selections. Speechmaking was most interesting and all called forth hearty applause. Everything good for the inner man was tional officers and the responses by the recipients were pleasing and to

The Japanese Catastrophe in Yokohama Has Caused an Enormous Loss of Raw Silk

You are no doubt aware that the Japanese control the silk market of the world. The terrible catastrophe that has befallen Tokyo and Yokohama has caused from all accounts the loss of thirty-five thousand bales of raw silk which were ready for shipment to the United States. This will cause an enormous loss of silks, and manufacturers are already refusing to quote us prices on further purchases until the situation is cleared. The silks that remain in our stocks will be sold at the original prices until the stock is exhausted. We suggest that you make your purchase now. See below quotations for the following: Canton Crepe, Crepe de Chine, Satin Back Crepe, Brocaded Chinchilla, Charmeuse and Satin.

COL. ROOSEVELT
FOR GOVERNORIn What Republicans' Plan, Say Democrats. Who Are in Turn Said to Be Grounding Lums.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Sept. 12.—The 1924 gubernatorial election is more than a year distant, but there is much talk around the state capitol these days about possible candidates — both Democrats and Republicans.The Democrats appear to be doing the most talking about the Republican "dark horses," while the reverse is true of the Republicans.As the weeks pass, the Democratic leaders who frequently visit the capitol are becoming more and more convinced that the Republican standard bearer for 1924 is more than likely to be Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy. Two months ago it looked as if H. Edmund Machold of Jefferson, speaker of the assembly for the last few years was being groomed for the candidacy at the hands of the Republican leaders.No one—at least the Democratic leaders—has a concrete idea of what has happened in the inner circles of the Republican party, but the belief prevails that Col. Roosevelt will be the candidate. It is known that U. S.
Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., is in Col. Roosevelt's corner.Two names have been mentioned as possible running mates to Col.
Roosevelt—former State Senator N.
Honroe Marshall of Franklin and
Col. William J. Donovan of Buffalo.
Col. Donovan was a candidate a year ago for lieutenant governor when Nathan L. Miller was defeated by Governor Alfred E. Smith. Republicans from the northern part of the state, it is said, feel they should be well represented on the ticket, and that Mr. Marshall is just the man.From what one hears around the capitol it seems fairly certain that Governor Smith will not be a candidate to succeed himself. For several weeks there has been a persistent report that Lieutenant Governor George R. Lunn of Schenectady has an excellent chance of being the Democratic standard bearer in the 1924 election.

A False Alarm.

A curious thing once occurred in a small village near Sheffield, England.
One of the villagers, says a contributor to Country Life, thought he saw smoke pouring from the spire of the parish church and at once raised an alarm. The village fire brigade turned out, and in a few minutes the brigade from a neighboring town came rushing to the scene. By that time many other people agreed with the villager that they, too, saw smoke; but oddly enough no one could find any trace of fire. As a precaution, however, the firemen drenched the spire with water.
Then they went home. The next morning everything was quiet, but at evening the strange clouds again began to ascend from the spire, and there was talk of summoning the fire brigades for the second time. Then the vicar had a happy thought; he went home and got his field glass.Through them he saw, not smoke, but bees! A large swarm had settled at the top of the spire, and from a distance they looked exactly like clouds of smoke eddying in the currents of the upper air.

Mexico's Longest River.

The Santiago river in Mexico is the longest in that country. It rises near Mexico City and flows northwest to the sea, emptying near San Blas. In the canyons 2,000 feet below the level of the surrounding plain, the Indian farmers find a super-tropic climate along the river banks where they plant their crops. The climate here forces vegetation as might an equatorial hot-

Are You Guilty?

SOME women take a great deal of care to select and insist upon exquisite toilet soap—and then accept and use a common household soap.They seem to forget that their hands have to work about ten times oftener and longer in laundry soap water than they do in toilet soap water and that their real concern, of course, should be about the kind of household soap they use.Great and steadily increasing numbers of intelligent women, however, are insisting upon Kirkman's Soap. For they know that Kirkman's is as harmless to their hands as the most exquisite toilet soap.KIRKMAN'S Soap is free from lye to redden and coarsen your hands or harm the most delicate fabrics. It is made of the best and purest materials.
And is guaranteed to contain absolutely no adulterants such as starch, water glass or talcum powder.For all household purposes, Kirkman's Soap is a most thorough cleanser. It requires much less "elbow grease" because its unique cleansing properties go all through every atom of water in your washtub.Thus you have genuine washing energy in the bottom of the tub as well as in the luxurious, billowing suds at the top. For the sake of your hands, insist upon Kirkman's Soap.

ANNUAL HIGHWAY SAFETY CONTEST

School Pupils to be Trained in Habits of Highway Safety—Five Hundred Prizes for Best Safety Essays and Lessons.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—Revel of its annual safety contests, in which $6,500 will be given away in prizes, was announced today by the highway education board.

Training children in habits of highway safety is the principal task of the 1923 safety campaign, it is said, but through the children it is hoped that the principles of traffic regulation and safety education will be impressed upon adults, both pedestrians and drivers alike.

The third annual safety campaign takes the form of two contests, one among elementary school pupils and another among elementary school teachers. Approximately five hundred state and national prizes are to be given for the best essays and lessons written. The prizes offered are the gifts of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which is desirous of reducing the number of accidents and fatalities due to traffic mishaps.

In the two previous years approximately 400,000 pupils and 50,000 teachers have participated each autumn. It is believed by board officials that the cumulative effect of these contests, and the increasing attention given to safety education will result in even a greater number of participants this year.

The subject of the essays which children are invited to write is "Highway Safety Habits I Should Learn." Essays, as last year, are not to exceed five hundred words in length. Those eligible are pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, who are not more than 14 years of age. The contest opens with the beginning of school and closes December 4, 1923.

Teachers are requested to submit safety lessons on the subject "Training Children in Habits of Safety on the Highway." The limit suggested is between 1,000 to 3,000 words. All elementary school teachers in the eighth and lower grades are eligible to submit lessons.

In the teachers' contest the first national award is five hundred dollars and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. The second national award is three hundred dollars, while the third award is two hundred dollars.

The first national prize for the best essay by pupils is a gold watch and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. The second and third prizes are each gold watches, one of slightly greater value than the other.

Four hundred seventy-eight state prizes are offered pupils. The first state prize is a gold medal and a check for fifteen dollars. The second state prize is a silver medal and ten dollars. Third prizes, which vary in proportion to the elementary school population of the state, are bronze medals and checks for five dollars. The board announces that the contests will be conducted with the cooperation of state departments of education, women's clubs, civic organizations, safety councils, automobile clubs and kindred organizations that may wish to assist. Complete details will be furnished upon application to the Highway Education Board, Willard Building, Washington, D. C.

How the Stars Move.

It is commonly supposed that the stars rise in the east and set in the west, moving eastward in the sky, but this is not strictly true. For people living in temperate frigid regions some stars never rise or set and some stars even appear to move eastward at times. It is owing to the rotation of the earth that stars have the appearance of moving westward in the sky. At the north and south poles the stars appear to move in concentric circles about a point directly overhead. Even in temperate latitudes some stars move in circles, counter-clockwise around the pole star. Thus to people in New York state the stars of the Dipper never rise or set but appear to move westward above the north star and eastward below it.

Not So Prosperous.

"My husband is simply a manufacturer of waste paper baskets," said a guest at dinner, "and it's a very prosaic occupation." "Yes," asserted an unappreciated bard seated next the speaker, "but then a great deal of good poetry goes into waste paper baskets after all."

CRIME COSTS 3 BILLION A YEAR

Figures Show Losses of Nation Exceed Its Imports.

CRIME NEVER SO PREVALENT

The national crime bill is more than $3,000,000,000 a year, according to estimates by the customs house, the police, credit associations and other authorities made public by the National Surety company in New York.

The greatest single item is stock frauds, the annual loss from which is estimated at $1,000,000,000 by Seymour L. Crowell, president of the New York stock exchange. Fraudulent bankruptcies were estimated by Secretary Tregoe of the National Association of Credit Men to add annual losses of $400,000,000 to the investing and speculating public.

According to these figures, every man, woman and child in the United States is robbed or cheated out of about $30 a year; or, putting it another way, enough crime is committed in the United States to earn an income of $30 a head to every American.

Crime Never So Prevalent

There has never been a time in the history of this country or of the world, when crime has been so prevalent, according to Chairman William B. Joyce of the board of directors of the National Surety company. He pointed out that the $3,000,000,000 lost through crime was a larger sum by $500,000,000 than the total of the country's annual imports.

The estimates of the country's annual losses through crime were collected at the request of the Institute of Economics at Washington, and some of the principal items were listed as follows:

Type of Crime	Amount
Stock frauds (President Crowell of the New York stock exchange)	$1,000,000,000
Credit frauds or false bankruptcies (Secretary Tregoe of the National Association of Credit Men)	400,000,000
Burglary, larceny and general petty thefts (police estimates)	250,000,000
Embezzlement (Chairman Joyce of the National Surety company)	100,000,000
Forgery (National Surety company estimate)	100,000,000
Seaport robberies, piracies, customs frauds (New York customs house)	100,000,000
Railroad freight thefts (Association of Railway Executives)	25,000,000
Home building frauds	25,000,000
Total	$2,000,000,000
Miscellaneous crimes of all other kinds	1,000,000,000
Total	$3,000,000,000

Increase Shown.

The enormous increase in certain types of crime was shown by the following comparative table of losses paid for burglaries and embezzlements by 22 burglar and surety companies in this country:

Year	Embezzlement	Burglary
1910	$1,395,681	$286,045
1913	2,070,201	1,258,558
1918	3,060,348	2,964,790
1919	4,523,604	5,660,305
1920	5,623,519	10,189,853
1921	8,270,000	12,500,000

The present year promises to lead all foregoing years in losses by burglaries.

The following, according to Chairman Joyce, are the seven principal economic causes for financial crime:

- "1. Widespread disrespect for property rights and law caused partly by the World war
- "2. Envy, resentment and bitterness, caused partly by ostentation of the wealthy class, and also by a widespread belief that opportunities for wealth are unequally allotted.
- "3. Many salaries too close to the starvation line.

- "4. Unemployment.
- "5. Carelessness of employers in not investigating the past records of new employees, in not auditing the accounts of their business with sufficient frequency and thoroughness and not keeping their office funds in properly constructed, modern safes, etc.
- "6. Doctrines of anarchy and Bolshevism and misinterpretation of book knowledge.
- "7. Desire for luxury beyond earning capacities."

FELLS TREE 375 YEARS OLD

Giant Hemlock Is Estimated to Yield 5,000 Feet of Lumber.

A hemlock tree 114 feet high and measuring five feet across the stump, believed to be the largest of the kind cut in several years in Pennsylvania, was felled in Allegheny township, Potter county, recently, the department of forests and waters has announced.

By actual count of the growth rings it was found the tree was 375 years old. Seven logs, ranging in length from ten to sixteen feet, were obtained, and it is estimated these logs contained almost 5,000 board feet of fine lumber.

Diamond Myth Exploded.

A belief that the diamond fractured the teeth if placed in the mouth and that death would surely ensue to one who swallowed it, dates back to very early ages, remarks the New World. This myth was exploded when it was learned that slaves working in the Indian diamond mines often swallowed them in order the more easily to steal them, and that no ill results followed. These fancies probably owe their origin, says Doctor Kunz, an authority on precious stones, to the fact that the diamond because of its extreme hardness, was used to cut all other stones, and the idea of its destructive qualities was strengthened by the old legends regarding the venomous serpents which guarded places where they were found.

Birds That Are Weather Wise.

Birds are a reliable means of foretelling the weather. Low-flying swallows are a sure sign of rain, while the flight of seagulls inland indicates a coming storm. If you watch a peacock, you will soon know if rain is approaching, according to London Answers. Instead of strutting proudly about, he will show every sign of uneasiness and give vent to shrill screams. Rooks and gulls signify the coming of bad weather by remaining near their homes, but crows are even more unaccountably accurate in prophesying a storm. If rain is imminent they will rise from their nests, wheel about for a minute or two, and then fly back. If the storm is likely to be severe these birds will indulge in a loud clamor and fly restlessly to and fro.

Want to Reach One Hundred?

Want to live a long time? Ostriches are regular octogenarians, as most of them live to be from seventy to ninety years of age, while individuals that reach the century mark occasionally occur, says Nature Magazine of Washington. These novel speedsters of the sandy plains eat grass and grain in generous amounts and for dessert consume pebbles, glass, or even iron or any other scraps of metal they can get hold of. This foreign material aids them to digest their food in the same way that grit is essential in the diet of the ordinary hen.

EXPERTS AND FANS PICK WINNER OF BIG FIGHT TOMORROW NIGHT

(Copyright 1923, by International News Service.)

Public opinion leans heavily toward Jack Dempsey as the probable winner of tomorrow night's world championship battle between Dempsey and Luis Firpo, the South American challenger. International News Service has obtained the following synopsis of opinion from well known personalities.

George Blake, nationally known referee and chief boxing instructor of the United States army during the World War—"Dempsey in eight rounds. Firpo is too green."

William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs—"My reaction is that when they all through fighting, Dempsey will still be champion."

Judge Landis—"I have not the slightest idea. I have not followed the fight news. Sorry I am such a deadhead."

Jack Doyle promoter—"Dempsey in a hurry."

Martin H. Glynn former governor of New York—"I believe Dempsey will win and win quickly. Dempsey has science and punch. Firpo only punch. Science and punch ought to beat punch."

Tom Jones, former manager of Ad Wogan, Billy Papke and Jess Willard—"Dempsey will win, but Firpo has a chance."

Lew Shank, famous "Potato" mayor of Indianapolis—"By gosh, if Dempsey doesn't win in three or four rounds Firpo will knock him out. Firpo is the most wonderful biter I ever saw."

William Dever, mayor of Chicago—"Dempsey, and I am for him because he is an American. I met Dempsey when he came through Chicago and consider him a friend."

Tad famous sporting editor—"It is really the hardest fight to figure out that has been before the boards for years."

Bill Brennan, who has fought both Dempsey and Firpo—"Dempsey although Firpo is dangerous. When Firpo hits you he wears you down—he doesn't knock you cold. Dempsey knocks you out cleanly."

Toby Irwin, referee—"Dempsey in the first or second round."

Eddie Graney, referee—"Firpo is a rough fellow and because of Dempsey fighting only eight championship matches in four years, Firpo may tire him out."

Thomas E. Wilson, packer—"It is almost impossible to pick the winner."

Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the American Legion—"Firpo looks like the best bet to win the championship in a long time."

George Muehlbach, owner of the Kansas City American Association Baseball team—"Dempsey by the tenth round."

Eugene C. Buckley, Massachusetts state boxing commissioner—"I have hopes of the title remaining in America."

Matt Hinkle, Cleveland boxing referee—"Dempsey in three rounds."

Rocky Kansas, lightweight title contender—"Dempsey is too fast and knows too much for Firpo. The champion should win inside of three rounds."

Sunday the Studebaker team of East Kingston will travel to Rosendale to play the team representing that place. Both teams have been playing good ball all season and a good game is expected.

PLAYERS WITH BROOKLYN GIANTS

Manager Brown, of the Colonials, received a letter this morning from the Brooklyn Royal Giants, containing the list of players that he will bring with him on Tuesday next. In his letter the manager claims that he has the best colored pitchers in the world today. He also stated that his team has never been defeated for the past several years playing in this section. The teams over which the colored team holds wins are Tannersville, Windham and four semi-pro teams of the up-state district.

Following are the players that will appear here: Scott, lf, Till, rf; Douglas, lb, Spearman, cf, Cason, c, Wahner, ss, Wood, c, Down, 2b, Hill, 3b, and the following pitchers: Plourney, Cannon, Ball Reading, Jeff Hector, Lefty Stork, Speed Rector.

The game will be called at 5 o'clock instead of 6 o'clock as in former twilight games.

Lieut. L. H. Sanderson

Piloted by Lieutenant L. H. Sanderson, U. S. Marine Corps, the Navy Wright airplane, which will be part of the fleet representing the Navy in the Pulitzer International Air Races in St. Louis on October 1, 2 and 3, made an unprecedented record of 238 miles an hour in a test flight at Mineola, Long Island. The previous record of 233 miles an hour was made by Sadi Lacoite in Paris on February 15.

COLONIALS LOSE TO GLENS FALLS

In six innings the Glens Falls team defeated the Colonials Wednesday at the former's diamond by a 9 to 0 score.

But two hits were made by the local club, one by McCue the other by Culloton that went for three bases. Kinney did the hurling for the up-state team and pitched wonderful ball. Dugan, Raskin and Herbst, who have been slugging all season, were unable to do a thing in a Colonial uniform.

Culloton was touched for ten hits. Two of these were home runs made by Akins. The first home run came in the third inning and was hit with two on bases. The Glens Falls line scored in every inning but the first. The local club felded perfectly. Glens Falls had two errors chalked against them.

This afternoon the local club again played Glens Falls on the same diamond.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE BIG LEAGUES

Good pitching by Hoyt and Penock gave the Yanks a double victory over the White Sox 2 to 1 5-3 and placed them that much nearer clinching the pennant.

The Reds came back to life and took a wallop out of the Cubs, 4 to 0. The Cubs have failed to score a run in 35 innings.

Coming from behind, the Tigers noosed out the Senators in the 12th, 6 to 4.

The Dodgers and Phillies played another game, with the Dodgers winning, 6 to 4.

Bats Hang Together.

Whales, men, horses, bats, all are mammals. All bear their young alike and suckle them. Most species of bats give birth to a single offspring, but some North American forms may bear as many as four at a time. The babies cling to their mother while she flies about, and do not trust their own wings until they are practically full grown. Consequently the mother may be forced to carry several times her own weight as she flits in search of food for herself and her young ones.

Indians Liked These.

In dry woods, particularly in the shadow of the hemlock, grow the rattlesnake plantains, the tufts of their gray-green leaves delicately marked with netted veining, says Nature Magazine of Washington. The resemblance to the markings on a snake is really responsible for its name, but the Indians once supposed it to have curative power for the bite of a rattlesnake. The two species common in the eastern states are the lesser rattlesnake plantain and the downy rattlesnake plantain.

BAD OIL FOR GAS GUMMED THE WORKS

Cause and Effects of Sunday's Trouble With Gas Supply—Not Likely to Happen Again—Never Safe to Leave Jets Burning.

Sunday's condition at the gas plant of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company by which it became necessary to shut down that section for several hours in order to eliminate the trouble has resulted in raising several questions which The Freeman has asked the company to attempt to answer.

The principal questions are: Is the trouble likely to happen again?

Is it safe for householders to leave gas jets burning unwatched?

To the first question, the answer as furnished by an official of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company is that while all things are possible, a repetition of Sunday's trouble is improbable.

To the second question, the answer is that there is not any danger in leaving a pilot light burning, but it is unwise to leave an ordinary gas jet burning even though the light is turned down. The same answer applies to gas ranges and heaters.

Making Gas.

Without going into scientific or technical detail, everybody is aware that there are a number of successive steps in the manufacture of illuminating gas. From the beginning of its manufacture until it is ready to ignite at the lighting tip in a private house, there are several processes through which the gas must pass. These processes take place in different tanks.

In the first tank, the coke from which the gas is made is heated to a temperature high enough to cause the gas to form. Live steam passes through this tank, and when the gas emerges from this tank, it is high in heating quality, but is not good for illuminating purposes. The illuminating quality is added in the next tank, and is furnished by oil which becomes vaporized through contact with hot bricks which are arranged in criss-cross formation which allows the oil-vapor and gas to pass through freely. That is, the oil is vaporized and the mixture passes through freely provided the bricks do not become gummy by reason of an excess of carbon. This condition depends largely on the quality of oil used. After leaving the second tank, the gasses pass into a third tank, where they are thoroughly mixed so that the product may be used both for heating and illuminating, and then there are other tanks through which it passes in order to wash out the sulphur and other impurities. Finally, having passed through the various processes, the gas enters the big tank, whose weight ordinarily is sufficient to force it through the mains, although necessarily there is less pressure when the tank is low than when it is raised high in the air by the gas collected under it.

A Gummy Carburetor.

Sunday's trouble occurred in the second tank, where oil is vaporized through contact with hot bricks in criss-cross formation in order to furnish the gas with qualities of illuminating. A car load of oil for use in this tank had been expected to arrive on Friday, but on Saturday it had not yet reached Kingston. However, it was necessary for the company to proceed with the manufacture of gas, and so it resorted to the use of some oil which had been purchased during the war and was of inferior quality to the oil used since, in an emergency, it was considered better to use this oil than to shut down the plant.

The result, however, of using inferior "war quality" oil was to "gum" the works of the second tank, and late on Saturday night it was decided to suspend the further manufacture of gas and clean the tank. The super-heated brick within the tank ordinarily would not cool for a considerable time, so the gas officials decided to apply water to cool them more quickly. Such an operation necessarily reduces the life of the tank, but its replacement sooner than anticipated is one of the risks of the business. The time chosen, near midnight of Saturday, was the time when the use of gas has practically ceased for the day. At the end of about seven hours, the tank had been cleaned and gas was again in the process of manufacture.

The peak of gas consumption occurs during the daylight hours, so that the reservoir ordinarily is filled during the hours when on Sunday, from midnight on, were required for repairs. The condition did not arise until after The Freeman had gone to press on Saturday afternoon and naturally there was no other way of notifying gas consumers that emergency repairs were about to be made. The work was completed before most gas consumers lighted their ranges, but the inability to fill the reservoir during the night hours resulted in low pressure throughout Sunday. The oil which had been expected on Friday arrived on Sunday and was used immediately.

New Storage Tanks.

The company has added two 10,000 gallon storage tanks for oil, which will enable it to carry a sufficient quantity of oil to make it unnecessary to depend on oil of inferior grade.

Installing New "Booster."

The company will receive shortly a gas exhauster, familiarly known as a "booster," which will be installed on its arrival and will result in delivering gas to the high pressure main at a pressure of from one to two pounds per square inch, as compared with a pressure of about one-fifth pound per square inch when gas is forced into the main simply by the weight of the steel reservoir tank.

The high pressure main extends from the gas-manufacturing plant at the water front at Poughkeepsie to the big tank on St. James Court, with taps at Meadow street, O'Reilly street and St. James Court. The pressure from the high pressure main is too great for ordinary household gas pipes and fixtures, so that at each of the three places mentioned where there is a tap, there is a governor by which the pressure is reduced before entering the network of pipes which supplies the various sections of the city. New governors have been installed at Meadow street and St. James Court. A new governor also has been installed at O'Reilly street but it has been found necessary to cut it out of service until the "booster" is installed. The "booster" performs the same service in the distribution of gas through the high pressure main that a pump would do for water, passing through a long length of hose.

Unwatched Burning Jets.

Gas jets for lights and for ranges ordinarily are supplied with a "pilot" burner which is allowed to burn continuously in most households. The amount of gas so consumed is extremely slight and the "pilot" is a great convenience, because of the small aperture through which gas passes in the "pilot" it is considered entirely safe to leave the "pilot" burning without watching it. Even with low pressure, the "pilot" will continue to burn when a jet having a larger aperture would become extinguished. To leave an ordinary gas jet, with its large aperture, burning even though the light is turned low, is not considered a safe practice.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, Sept. 13.—Further selling appeared at the opening of the stock market today and caused heaviness in most sections of the market. Marland Oil was conspicuously weak in the petroleum group, losing 1/4 to 26. Corden yielded 1/4 to 31. Pan-American Petroleum unchanged at 58 1/2. Sinclair at 20 1/4 and Standard Oil of California at 50 1/4, were up 1/8. Vanadium Steel was weak, declining 1/4 to 30 1/4. Baldwin Locomotive lost 1/4 to 121 1/4 and Lima Locomotive 1/4 to 65 1/4. Studebaker lost 1/4 to 101 1/4, and Chandler Motor 1/4 to 32 1/4. U. S. Rubber lost 1/4 to 41 1/4. Baltimore and Ohio yielded 1/4 to 49 1/4. Northern Pacific 1/4 to 58 1/4. St. Paul preferred 1/4 to 58 1/4. Southern Railway 1/4 to 33 1/4.

A large volume of offerings forced prices to lower levels in the forenoon trading on the stock exchange today. Bethlehem Steel yielded over 2 points to 50. Gulf States 2 1/4 to 81 1/4. S. Steel 3/4 to 85 1/4. Crucible 2 points to 62 1/4. Heavy liquidations in Marland Oil featured the oil group, the stock dropping over 2 points to 24 1/4, a new low for the year. Trading continued fairly active with losses ranging from 1 to over 2 points.

The market continued its downward course throughout the afternoon with the leading issues showing declines ranging from 1 to over 2 points.

Society Notes

Tidell-Dahlem.

Frank B. Tidell of Havana, N. Y., and Miss Mathilda H. Dahlem of No. 342 Broadway, were united in marriage on September 12 by the Rev. John P. Neuman of St. Peter's Church. They were attended by Edward J. Tidell and Miss Anna K. Dahlem.

Birthday Party.

Master Frank Byer celebrated his tenth birthday, Tuesday afternoon, at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ruby Byer, 230 Lucas avenue, about thirty-five of his young friends being present. Games were played, there was piano and violin music by his cousins, Robert and William Steuding, and Pauline Sutton, also a cousin, rendered delightful selections on the guitar, and the young people did justice to a bountiful repast. The party ended at an early hour, and the youngsters left, having spent an enjoyable afternoon, and wishing Master Frank many more happy birthdays.

About the Folks

Mr. and Mrs. G. Frank Regendahl have returned from a visit to Baltimore, Md., where they visited their son.

Melvin J. Schermerhorn of 85 Pearl street has returned from a ten days motor trip, having visited Albany, Schenectady and Utica.

Mrs. Lulu Kleene and assistants who have been in New York city attending the national hair dressers convention at the Hotel Pennsylvania have returned.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Allen and daughter, Viola, of 45 Lavan street and Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of Andrew street, motored to Springfield, Mass., and Hartford, Conn., returning by way of Pine Plains and Rhinebeck.

Mr. Mary Hogan and her niece, Eunice G. Crook, of 33 South Wall street, are leaving for California, where in the future they will make their home. Miss Crook is the possessor of a charming soprano voice and will be missed in social and musical circles. She has been a pupil of Mrs. Frank Hemstreet.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Willis Markle, an old and respected resident of Mombaccus Center, died Monday evening last in the 80th year of his age.

Doris, daughter of Frank Harmina Pidenivory Patterson, died today at the Kingston City Hospital. Funeral Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the family residence, 2310 Valentine avenue, New York city. Interment in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

The funeral of Sampo Plausi was held this morning from his late home in East Kingston at 9 o'clock and from St. Colman's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Thomas Larkin, pastor of the church. During the offertory Mrs. Leary sang "Pie Jesu" and at the close, "Thy Will Be Done." The interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery. Mr. Plausi is survived by two sons, Peter and Thomas.

Charles Day Halsey, aged 58, senior member of the brokerage firm of C. D. Halsey & Co., 27 William street, New York city, which firm has a branch office at 260 Fair street, this city, under the management of George G. Brooks, died Wednesday at his summer home in Rumson, N. J., after being ill for about one year. He graduated from Princeton University in 1886, and practiced civil engineering until 1891 when he abandoned his profession to enter the field of finance in which he became very successful. He was a member of the Union Club, the Princeton Club and the Midway Club of New York; the Essex Club and the Essex County Country Club of Newark, and the Rumson Country Club and the Sea Bright Tennis Club of Rumson. His New York city home is at 43 East Seventy-second street. Mr. Halsey leaves his wife, two sons, Van Rensselaer Halsey and C. D. Halsey, Jr., a daughter, Lillie V. R. Halsey, all of New York and Rumford, and a half sister, Mrs. Hamilton King of East Hampton, L. I. Funeral services at 12 o'clock noon Friday, in St. George's Church, Rumson, and burial in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, New York.

The funeral of Miss Julia McConnell, who died at her home on Brown avenue Sunday morning, was held Wednesday morning and was largely attended by relatives, friends and associates of Miss McConnell. A tribute of love and respect was paid Miss McConnell on Tuesday evening when members of several church societies with which she was affiliated, visited her home on Brown avenue and in union recited the Rosary. During the evening throngs of friends visited the home and passed the beautiful drop side, couch casket of white embroidered plush in which the remains reposed. A large number of floral tributes of beautiful design were in evidence surrounding the casket. At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning the funeral cortege left the home on Brown avenue and at 9:30 o'clock a solemn high Mass was sung at St. Joseph's Church by the pastor, the Very Rev. Joseph G. Cushman, V. F., with responses by the choir. Several solo parts were sung during the Mass and at its conclusion Frank Fitzgerald sang "Thy Will Be Done." Interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Leo V. Grogan. The bearers were Bernard McBride, Owen Cassidy, Benjamin Van Otten and Peter O'Brien.

BROOKLYN vs POUGHKEEPSIE

NATIONAL LEAGUE CLUB RED SOX CLUB

Guaranteed Regular Lineup.

Game to start promptly at 4 o'clock.

ONE ADMISSION — — $1.25

Congressman John Phillip Hill, Jr.

Congressman John Phillip Hill, of Baltimore, Md., has started a home-made grape press in the cellar of his home, No. 3 West Franklin street. He asserts he will fill a keg with the grape juice and let fermentation generate alcohol until prohibition agents announce the percentage that breaks the law. Congressman Hill wants a definite ruling from the Treasury Department on what constitutes an illegal amount of alcoholic content, he asserts.

FORT EWEN.

Fort Ewen, Sept. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. George Reiche, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Sleight on Salem street, have returned to their home in the Bronx, New York city.

Michael Duffy, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Mallia on Tilden street, and Martin and Thomas Duffy of Cedar Grove Farm, Rhinebeck, have returned to their home in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reiche of the Bronx and Mrs. F. B. Sleight and daughter, Bessie, and Miss Jennie Rodman enjoyed an auto trip around the Ashokan reservoir Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Townsend of Montclair, N. J., have moved into the house of Miss Minnie Townsend in Main street.

Michael Duffy, William Mallia, John Duffy and John Ward motored to Mohonk Lake and Ashokan dam on Friday.

There will be a regular meeting of the Ever Ready Club on Monday evening, September 17, at the home of Mrs. Charles Zimmerman on Salem street. This is the first meeting of the fall season and a large attendance is anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmerman of Salem street, Mrs. Otis Terwilliger and son Frank and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hutcheson and Miss Mildred Short of Broadway attended the clam bake at the Accord Reformed Church on Wednesday evening. The bake was exceptionally good and a large number of people partook of it.

Princess Maria Jose and Prince Umberto.

It is reported by well-informed sources in Brussels that the engagement will be announced shortly of Princess Marie Jose, third child of the King and Queen of the Belgians, to Crown Prince Umberto, son of the Italian rulers. Princess Marie Jose, who was born August 4, 1906, is said to be the prettiest of the younger princesses of all the ruling families of Europe.

JACK AND FIRPO NURSING NERVES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 13.—Today—twenty four hours before the Polo Grounds battle, Jack Dempsey, champion of the world and Luis Angel Firpo, his Argentine challenger, are resting and waiting, the interminable wait that must precede that hour of greatest test. The long training is over, the training camps have been deserted, the last of the camp followers has gone and there remains only the slow passing hours intervening between hope and achievement.

To this writer, hatched in pugilistic ways, there is something sordid, something pathetic about that period of waiting. What thoughts go racing through the minds of the two men who watch the passing hours with seeming impassiveness. Deep down in their souls, what emotions surge and rise and come to life through the long moments that separate them from their approaching goal?

Behind the immobile mask of their faces is there a nervousness that causes their muscles to twitch and twist and cry for action? Are they impatient and restless? Deep in their hearts do they feel the confidence which their smiles proclaim? Deep in their hearts, too, is there a doubt of the result?

The champion is waiting, waiting as he waited for Carpenter, for Brennan, for Fulton.

He is no longer the Dempsey of the camp, smiling, happy, boyish. Today he is Dempsey the fighter. The fanned face has grown serious, the brow is drawn into a scowl, his eyes begin to assume the flame and spark of battle.

Over his uptown apartment near the drive, Firpo the challenger waits. More stolid than Dempsey, more deliberate and slow moving, he too, shows the marks of the strain of waiting. His face is a bit drawn and his forbidding scowl is even more forbidding as he watches the excited antics of his handlers.

The Fly in the Ointment. The lucky man would be happy if he wasn't always afraid his luck would change.

WALSH GIVES FIRPO SLIM CHANCE

(By Davis J. Walsh).

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Sept. 13.—Anyone with the slightest claim to sanity will pick Luis Firpo to go out early at the earnest behest of Jack Dempsey's list at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night. That is the sensible way to pick this fight. It is the first and possibly the only world's heavy weight championship bout within a generation in which the experts, so-called, are in perfect accord on the result. With few exceptions, they have selected Firpo as the loser and personally we think that they can do no less. Firpo is probably the poorest excuse we have had for a championship challenger within twenty years or more.

The Latin has been made the subject of a wonderful successful "build-up." From the very moment that he appeared in America, some fifteen months ago, he was nurtured and preserved as the "logical" challenger for the heavyweight title, and seemingly, his every move has been ordered by an unseen force. He was the candidate for a gigantic "smoke up" and neither man nor money could alter the course of his immediate life.

He was and is a child of destiny, a plaything of the fates. He happened to be huge, hairy and foreign. He didn't need anything else beyond a ferocious expression and reasonable good health. Tex Rickard would attend to the rest of it.

These are about all Luis Firpo has to recommend him in tomorrow's bout. He is simply a big man with a ponderous punch, a punch that might play havoc with a stationary rack. Dempsey probably will be elsewhere when that punch is started and finished.

The writer has been watching Firpo work for a week and cannot do less than say that he is a terrible mistake. Young Bob Fitzsimmons, John Lester Johnson and other sparring partners of similar ability, if any, have been able to hit him at will and escape the consequences. They have made the Latin appear the part of a very poor specimen, indeed.

Yet it must be granted that Firpo is a better fighter than the training camp work outs would indicate. He is less than an ordinary exhibitor and the fact that he must score a knockout to look like anything at all, militated against a favorable impression being gained of him. If the South American were sent in to finish his sparring partners, day after day, the chances are that some of the boys might think highly of his ability. One cannot go behind a knockout his hip pocket and Firpo is possibly as unimpressive as a finisher as any man the heavyweight division has known within recent years.

The fact that he is not allowed to fight, but merely has to use that term for lack of a more appropriate one, made observation of his training camp activities quite worthless. It was something like watching a steam roller practice racing starts. One could and did sense the fact that his tremendous power was being diverted into, unnatural channels. Had he been sent in against a roomful of bathroom toilet-bout every day and permitted to fight accordingly, the chances are good that Firpo would now command more respect than is accorded him.

However, it so happens that tomorrow night's bout will not be conducted under bathroom rules.

THE PENNANT RACES.

Giants Five Games in Lead; Yankees Fourteen and a Half.

While the Giants and the Pirates were idle yesterday the Reds gained half game on them when they trimmed the Cubs. The Pirates began a series with the Dodgers today, while the Reds again tackle the Cubs. The Giants will not play until tomorrow when they open at Chicago.

The Giants still lead the Pirates by five games and the Reds by 6 1/2 games. If New York wins ten of its remaining sixteen games, the Pirates would have to win 18 of their 20 contests to defeat them, and the Reds must win all of their remaining 18 games to win out.

The Yankees increased their lead over Cleveland to 14 1/2 games when they won a double-header from the White Sox, while the Indians were idle. The Yankees need but ten more victories of the 21 games they have to play to clinch the pennant even if the Indians win all of their 25 remaining games.

The brilliant young Yonkers star, who yesterday to Francis Hunter, who with the aid of much ice water at crucial moments won a hard fought five set victory.

Otherwise the tournament to date has furnished no upsets. The seeded players, William Tilden, the national champion; R. Norris Williams, of Philadelphia; William M. Johnston, the 1923 winner at Wimbledon; B. L. C. Norton, the South African; and Manuel Alonzo of Spain and Philadelphia, were ready for today's rounds.

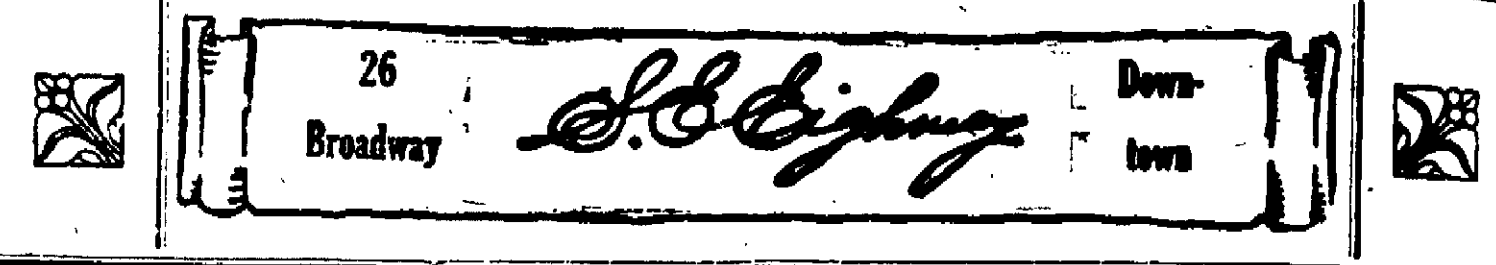

Robert Kanser of San Francisco, one of the first ten, and Frank T. Anderson of New York, were the other survivors.
